ADDISON REPERTORY THEATER (A.R.T.) PLACEMENT FORM

We offer two A.R.T. programs, Performance and Technical. The goals of the programs are to educate through the production of quality theater. The breakdown is as follows:

A.R.T. Technical (offered in the morning):

The A.R.T. Tech program emphasizes a logical and sequential training in the following: set construction, costume fundamentals, lighting design, sound design, technical direction and stage management. This is achieved through a balance of studio training, critiques and production experience. We do offer basic acting training, though technicians are never required to perform.

A.R.T. Performance (offered in the afternoon):

The A.R.T. Performance program emphasizes holistic, yet sequential training in the following: movement, acting, voice, text analysis, playwriting, and stage management. This is achieved through a balance of studio training, critiques, movement training and production experience.

A.R.T. Performance requires some training in technical theater.

Please visit the A.R.T. website (<http://addisonrepertory.com>) for more information.
